

NOTEbookS at Entec UK

Entec UK is a large, multidisciplinary consultancy of around 1,000 users. Several years ago we needed a single system to manage our disparate collection of library material. NOTEbookS ticked all our boxes. Being a Lotus Notes product it fitted perfectly within our systems environment and Notebooks has proved to be a robust, user-friendly, and adaptable library management system. The Catalogue and associated modules presents a convenient window to our company-wide library resources. Users can easily select, reserve or view details of an item, as well as submit a purchase request, while full management and reporting information is no more than a few clicks away. We make full use of the ability to attach pdf's and include web links within records, thus delivering to our users a much richer and knowledge enhancing experience. The catalogue helps us keep control over our book purchases, we know what we have, we can avoid duplication and share resources more effectively, which all contributes to us maximising the investment in our collection. NOTEbookS is constantly evolving, the technical support is excellent and it very quickly proved to have been worth the investment.
