

NOW—Next generation Special Library Automation

NOTEbooks on the Web™

Robert A. Schless & Co. Inc. is pleased to announce the release of NOTEbooks on the Web (NOW), a powerful new integrated library system. NOW includes the rich features of NOTEbooks on Domino that are used by over 150 libraries worldwide, on a browser-based hardware-independent platform. Use NOW to integrate and administer your collections of books, internal documents, periodicals and knowledge repositories. NOW offers features like full text searching of attachments and bibliographic data, managed email alerts and web 2.0 patron collaboration, all from a secure, web-based platform. Going to the cloud or searching for a SaaS environment? Let us host and administer your library system from our secure servers.

NOW Features

- ◆ Rich workflows and email alerts from a browser-based system
- ◆ Easy-to-navigate consolidation of corporate knowledge and collections into a cohesive, managed set of repositories.
- ◆ Clear, straight-forward tools to simplify collection, serials, and research administration
- ◆ Modular design allows customization without programming
- ◆ One-stop full text search of bibliographic data and attached Word™, PDF and Powerpoint™ documents
- ◆ Web 2.0 patron collaboration

NOW is powered by IBM Domino 8.5, a server that can run on many platforms. Options include:

- ◆ Internally hosted Domino servers
- ◆ Externally hosted web server
- ◆ In-house IBM Foundation server

NOW's system administration, collection management and patron access runs natively on PCs and Macs. Supported browsers include Microsoft Internet Explorer, Safari, and Firefox.

What's on Your Desktop?

NOTEbookS Library Automation is our successful integrated library system that runs on IBM Domino servers, and on patrons' and library staff's Lotus Notes desktops at over 150 libraries worldwide (including at 3 of the Big-4 accounting firms.) NOW (NOTEbookS on the Web) is a tops-down rewrite of this system that offers its world class functionality and workflows in a web browser-based environment that can be run on your internal intranet or across the internet. So if you are looking for a system that provides web accessibility with strong security and rich workflows you've found us! NOW is an easy-to-use, powerful bridge between library automation and knowledge management for corporate, government and institutional special libraries. Running a solo library? Get empowered! Managing an enterprise-wide corporate consortium? Let us help you get integrated!

Managing the Special Library

The virtual team that administers an ILS today wears many hats. There is the traditional library staff that performs the library functions of cataloging, circulation control, serials administration and research. Then there are team members that include IT administrators who manage the systems' servers, security personnel managing user IDs and passwords, programmers who manage the application code, and network administrators who keep the intranet running. The catchphrase "doing more with less" becomes much more relevant when all these players are considered. NOW takes into account the whole virtual team that administers your ILS and provides productivity tools for each of the team members. Hardware? We've got that covered, with hosting and IBM Foundations solutions. Operating system and network? Name your environment..we run on it! Administering your library? We provide the support tools and services to keep your library running at its peak.

Library Administration in the 21st Century

NOW provides Library 2.0 collaboration, "object oriented" collection administration and extensive automated e-mail notifications through a browser interface. Incorporate your company's expertise (and experts) in your research knowledge-base through easy-to-manage patron collaborative tools. Using iPads? NOW client runs natively on all PC and Mac browsers as well as on tablets such as the Apple iPad. We've got you covered! And we do conversions!

How May We Serve You?

Some libraries depend on their IT department to provide servers to host their integrated library solution. Others have realized economies by outsourcing their servers and server administration to service bureaus or "hosted" facilities. With NOW we offer both options. Does your IT department speak "Domino"? We're the only native game in town! NOW is powered by IBM Domino 8.5, server software that runs on nearly every existing hardware and software platform, including Windows, Linux, Unix and even IBM Mainframe operating systems. Need a standalone server that will remove IT from the equation? NOW runs on IBM Foundations servers that sit in your library and are maintained remotely by IBM business partners. They're free standing turnkey hardware solutions that tie seamlessly to your internet site. Want to consider the simplicity and economy of a hosted environment? We can take the wear and tear off your IT department (and your budget) by hosting NOTEbookS remotely at one of our partner's hosting centers. You run the library, we administer the system. It's that simple!

What Happens Next?

Want to take a tour of NOW? We're happy to offer live web-based demos. Bring your IT staff along so they can see how easy it is to integrate NOW into their corporate intranet, on your server or ours. Just give us a call and we'll make all the arrangements! Interested in setting up a trial? Contact us and we'll do the rest!
